According to the company, the AutoCAD program has become the industry standard. This program has won many awards and become a standard part of many design processes. AutoCAD is now available in more than 30 languages, and, in 2011, Autodesk released AutoCAD DWG/DXF, AutoCAD LT, and AutoCAD Architecture for the iPad. The market leader in AutoCAD and 3D applications, Autodesk's AutoCAD software allows users to create 2D and 3D drawings as well as model buildings, homes, and much more. How Much Does AutoCAD Cost? The free AutoCAD software program (Standard Edition) has an estimated retail price of $900 per year. The AutoCAD software is available in several editions (which are more or less comparable) starting at $3,500 for AutoCAD Premier and $1,800 for AutoCAD Student. AutoCAD's highest-end commercial version is AutoCAD LT. AutoCAD LT is available for $2,200 per year, or $550 per year for

AutoCAD Professional. There is a "trial" version of AutoCAD LT for 12-month use, which is $1000. The AutoCAD LT commercial versions are also offered as a package, with AutoCAD LT, AutoCAD Architectural Desktop, and Autodesk Architectural Design. The AutoCAD Architectural Desktop package is estimated at $8,000, and the AutoCAD Architectural Design package is $14,000. The AutoCAD Architectural Desktop package includes a free trial of AutoCAD Architectural Design. AutoCAD LT is the tool of choice in many architectural firms and home builders, and also for industry companies, educators, and universities. What Is Autodesk AutoCAD? The AutoCAD software program is a drawing creation, editing, and management tool. It allows users to create, edit, share, and manage their drawings. The application can also analyze, convert, and publish 2D and 3D drawings and objects. AutoCAD can save the drawings and files to disk, memory, or the web. AutoCAD can also connect to different types of networks and the Internet. The program can create text and diagrams, and it can be used to create forms, web pages, maps, and even business-related or educational documents. What Is AutoC

In the workbench select Show Window – Options – Autodesk Studio. Under Plugins you should see a list of plugins you have installed, under the heading "Import/Export". Find the Autodesk SDK (SDK Software Development Kit). You can then extract it. Full instructions and further information are available from the Autodesk website. SPRINGFIELD — Three men face federal charges in connection with a violent robbery of an Amherst woman last year, but the suspects also targeted a Springfield couple in an attempted robbery in March. And now, the FBI has joined the task force that includes Amherst, Northampton and Hampshire law enforcement, as well as the U.S. Attorney's office, in the investigation. The suspects, who are all from Amherst, are charged in a May 4 robbery that ended with the victim hospitalized. The trio, who were previously arrested in April on state charges, are being held in the Hampshire County House of Corrections on $500,000 bail each. The U.S. Attorney's office said the investigation revealed that three Amherst men robbed the couple in March, but that three other suspects — including one of the three held in the recent robbery — were involved in that incident. The Amherst suspects allegedly robbed the couple — a 66-year-old woman and her 71-year-old husband, both from Northampton — after they left work and had pulled their vehicle into the driveway of their home at about 2 a.m. on March 24, prosecutors said. The suspects approached the couple's home from the back and climbed a fence, prosecutors said, then approached the vehicle as the couple exited. The suspects allegedly hit the couple and took their money. The suspects fled and authorities didn't locate them. Police later arrested two Amherst men, 25 and 19, who allegedly admitted to participating in the March robbery, prosecutors said. The three Amherst men — ages 25, 19 and 17 — allegedly admitted to participating in the May robbery, including to robbing the woman. The robbery suspects were arraigned in U.S. District Court in Springfield in April. The three in federal custody were also arraigned in federal court on Tuesday. Springfield police detectives are investigating the March robbery, while Springfield and Amherst police are investigating the May 4 robbery
