Simply put, if you like rhythm games with a "pretty" interface, you'll enjoy this game! Enter a magical world of ancient tunes and ancient battle over the heart of a girl with unique art style. ◆Story: The world is being run by the four big Demon Lords, the ones who rule over the dumplings. War has erupted among them, and the 3,000 years of war is still going on. The 9th Demon Lord is on the move. When she left the world, she took a magic book, the "Book of Gaia", with her. That book is the cause of the recent war. Watanabe, a girl with an ordinary appearance, is living peacefully in the human world. But one day, the 9th Demon Lord appeared and revealed a "Magic Music Box" to her. The 9th Demon Lord gave her a voice box with which she could talk to the Demon Lords. She's also given a violin that can produce the battle sounds of battle techniques known as "Music of Demons" without using the voice box. The Demon Lords are about to use the power of the "Music of Demons" to awaken the Crawling Chaos that used to live in this world. Gathering all the people who survived the war, the girl and her friends will restore the world back to its original state, and save this world from destruction! Thoth, God of Wisdom: Ancient Egyptian God of Music and Learning In the ancient world, Thoth was the god of the four "lower" planets in the solar system: Mercury, Venus, Earth and Mars. The name "Thoth" is actually a transliteration of the ancient Egyptian word "thu" which was meaning "to think". As a God of wisdom, Thoth is also an Egyptian God of Music. He is the inventor of the lyre (Egyptian harp), whose design is so similar to the original monochord that his was most likely devised to be based on it. He plays an important role in the highly influential Book of Thoth, the oldest extant book of Egyptian wisdom. Thoth is associated with the Eye of Horus, the constellation that shines brightest in the Egyptian sky each night at sunset, after the sun has set below the horizon. Thoth is depicted in most Egyptian art and monumental Egyptian architecture as a man with a bird head, holding a flute and a papyrus scroll. He is also shown accompanying the God Osiris, and c9d1549cdd

   – Chapter 8 One week later…. "If I am to be sent on some mission or other, the news of which only those I am with know, I would like for it to be a mission without landing. I am getting tired of looking through my [Scroll] of the most recent events each day that I am in the presence of a fallen idol. I don't think they were actually in the position of the Fallen and the Holy to be so easily…transparent in their plans. That is something my head tells me I should know, but my heart feels a lot…" "And it's not like they ended up doing or saying anything!" "What is even more frustrating is that they know they are going to blame the fall on me in the end. I am not getting any comfortable feeling from that." "If you go too far thinking in those ways then you will never recognize your mistakes. I have no doubts about what happened. Those people at the bottom only attempted to go against the orders of the Mana Flow." "I would never resort to going against orders. I am a person who is a civilian………or rather I was a civilian." "To put it plainly you did no wrong. I am sure you cannot really be blamed for that." "But who is to blame then?!" "Those who ordered the fall did it for a reason. That is all I can say." "If it were to be so, then the one who should be blamed the most is that one on the golden throne, Joanne." "Haha, yeah, she sure was the main force behind it. She was, and still is, the one that moved the people who were in the way." "Whatever her reasons, that is the one who should be held responsible." "Her values were all the same at that end. She wanted to create a plan to preserve her power on this Earth. However, she did not only move hundreds of people to achieve her goal but also brought Joanne and me along with that. She didn't even care if we lived or died…..that could not be under any circumstances." "That is unforgivable………however, she is
