What's new in Space Survivors I: The Reckoning:

Review I've said it before and I'll say it again: it's impossible to fail when you love you. While you might finish this blog post with a long-winded, but cheerful, musing on the dating habits of magical girls, I'd wager that there are plenty of them who read it with frustrated tears in their eyes because when someone told them they loved them, they never had to think about how they were supposed to ask them out on a date. I'm sure there are plenty of magical girls who've been frustrated with themselves ever since they fell for that cute guy from class or the cute girl from the library; after all, it's not as simple as being a beautiful girl. In spite of this, when I finally give my magical girl a handbook on the art of dating, she'll be perfectly equipped to pull it off! Before we dive into my review, I just want to reiterate: I adore magical girls! I just wanted them to treat love the way they did magic; in my dream, the handbook would indicate ways of going about dating girls without the need to make a wish on a lamp. If you're a magical girl, maybe you should get your friends to write for the book as well, because what would be a better gift than learning how to date a magical girl?!? Chapter 1: Magical Girl Dating Defined After defeating their rival's Golems, Dambearers look for a life partner, and start their journey to do so through what they like. (The Dambearers also spend time looking for a rival to fight with which explains why the damsels wear battle gear and are often seen with Golems around their neck.) "Every magical girl should have a life partner. It's the only fair thing to do." (If you're thinking, "Of course she does!" and "That's obvious," you're not alone. This is a lot of pressure for a magical girl who has never seen a Golem before.) Whether you have a magical girl or not, this is a story about love. For this book to be useful, we need to determine what a magical girl date is. And that's where I start this chapter. "A magical girl date is when we talk about our hopes, dreams, or fears
