Wednesday, January 13, 2012 Wedding Flowers About two years ago I had the opportunity to be the florist for my cousin's wedding. She is a very talented artist who's style is modern with her own special twist. We decided to use the same flowers that I used on my own wedding. She wanted a few different colors, so I kept it simple with lots of small orange roses and baby's breath to add a soft edge to the little colored polka dots. She had a lot of details that I couldn't keep up with so I turned to the internet and found some great ideas for painting flowers on the dot canvas. Here is the one I used: Flowers on the dot canvas Here is the final result: The center piece was a chocolate pot with 6 different floral arrangements, one for each of my mom's six children. The floral arrangements are from a couple of years ago. I was going to use fresh flowers for the center piece today, but the flowers weren't quite ready yet. If you are interested in something similar, here is a set of 6 different floral arrangements that I did for my sister's wedding: The center piece is two chocolate pots filled with b7e8fdf5c8

The top former aide to President Trump's campaign manager says Trump's "tune" with voters was basically right in Iowa. "He is a businessman and understands that you need to bring in more people and how to get votes," Corey Lewandowski, who served as Trump's campaign manager in the campaign's early days, told NBC News. ADVERTISEMENT "That's the way he operates." Lewandowski, speaking at the National Press Club in Washington, told reporters he was "not surprised" to see how well Trump and his surrogates have performed so far. "It's a bit early but I would expect that in New Hampshire, if nothing else, Trump will do well," Lewandowski said. "I thought what you saw in Iowa was kind of an affirmation that there's a true understanding of the differences that [Trump] has in relation to the Republican Party," Lewandowski continued. "And as you saw in Iowa, you've got so many great candidates running, but you've got one who stands out as in the front." ADVERTISEMENT "I think when you see [Trump] with the American people, that's what the mainstream media doesn't get to see, is when he's on the ground and talking to people, he's so authentic," Lewandowski said. "And he connects with people." In Iowa, Trump had a stunning 19-point win over 12 rivals, according to results from the first-in-the-nation caucuses. ADVERTISEMENT Earlier this week, Trump told conservative radio host Hugh Hewitt that his tax plan and energy plan are "a model for the country." Last week, Trump also told Fox News's Bill O'Reilly that his popularity with female voters has never been stronger.

A neat little utility developed with only one aim - to help you find out which website(s) are slowing down your Internet connection the most. Hence, just start the program, point at the device (the one on which Internet is provided) and click the Refresh button. The program will do its best to find slow network links in your way to the internet. Screenshots: What's New in Version 3.6.8.3 A serious omission now fixed - the Load-Screen does not display updates on new version releases (it's still there as a convenience only) You can opt-out of this feature by unchecking 'Never Show Version or Release Updates' under Settings > General Settings. What's New in Version 3.6.8.2 Fixed a serious problem that was causing crashing on some Windows versions Improved the manual mode which now allows the user to choose exactly the number of entries to show per page in the auto-refresh mode. The application no longer crashes if the condition NetworkAvailable is set to false What's New in Version 3.6.8.1 Fixed a problem where the current running version was not shown in Program->About box. Fixed a problem where notifications were not removed from the taskbar on exit. Fixed a problem where "Search" button should not be grayed out after pressing it. What's New in Version 3.6.8 Added "Suggestions" to the About dialog so that users don't forget about seeing the v3.6.8 release which contain 2 bug fixes and a lot of enhancements. Suggestions are added at end of the version information string. Tabs are now also grouped in the About dialogThanks for all who participated in the Steem Arsenal Network (SAN) SBC.
