Gastrostomy (pyloric and jejunal) tube feeding in cases of canine and feline malnutrition. Gastrostomy tube feeding is considered a valuable adjunct in the nutritional management of cats and dogs in which a caloric intake can not be achieved by a nutritional supplement or oral diet alone.

Gastrostomy tube feeding has been used for over 30 years to provide enteral nutrition. Tubeless enteral feeding systems have been developed that use a mechanical pump connected to the tube. The feeding system may be combined with a syringe device to stimulate gastric secretion and motility
