The data on treatment efficacy of 67 patients with contusive-ischaemic brain injuries are presented. The comprehensive treatment included a set of measures (anticoagulants, antiaggregants, neuroprotective therapy, low-dose heparin, surgery, decompression of the cranial cavities and urgent hospital treatment). The clinical and laboratory parameters were analyzed at the onset of and after 1, 2 and 3 weeks of the treatment. The treatment was followed by an almost total elimination of the neurological complications (hemorrhages, seizures, focal cerebral dysfunctions, mental disorders) and by a decrease in the mortality rate and the rate of posttraumatic encephalopathy. 247 Ga. 214 (1981) 276 S.E.2d 18 SHARPER v.
