This.Q: Function apply on all but the first element in a list Is there a way to run a function only on the first n elements of a list while keeping the rest of the elements untouched? I know that you can use map to achieve this, but is there a more elegant/Faster way to do this? A: Two relatively fast ways to do this would be with the index and the slice functions `index(lst, idx) [lst[i : idx]]` or `[lst[idx]]` where `lst` and `idx` should be of the same length. a faster way could be to use the numpy library `lst = numpy.array(lst) lst[idx]` Q: How to get the state of a pressable container as a string? I'm currently working on a simple command-line text adventure. I'm using bokeh for user interactions. I'd like to use Bokeh's pressable containers for the map, menu, inventory, and inventory_up/inventory_down. I've got it working for the game map, menu, and inventory (for the "enter" and "inventory_up" case), but I don't know how to make the "inventory_down" pressable appear, so that it returns "inventory down" as a string. I'm not sure if I need to do something different for the pressable containers to change the text, or if it's the container's responsibility to change the string. I've made a simple example: `from bokeh.plotting import figure, show`
