Sexy Ape Sexy Ape is a brand of hotpants created by the Italian company Gamalista, its name is a play on words made up from the words soft and make-up. The slogan of the brand is "Ape me!", which refers to the dream of being seduced by an ape. It has come to symbolize a subject who seduces sexy women in the privacy of their homes. The mission of Sexy Ape is to seduce women with their clothes and let them seduce themselves. The main objective is to satisfy both men and women, and to deliver a sense of freedom and pleasure when they wear them. Sexy Ape has five collections: The first one, named the "Lady" collection, offered the option of wearing either men's or women's tighy whities. The early models were in two-tone high-waisted leggings with a floral motif, a floral sleeve or buttoned to a high neckline with a slit. Although the shorts were in the wild animal print and sporty designs, they were not designed for those searching for a fashion look. The "Power" collection consisted of purple women's power-dressing shorts with a power pinstripe. The "L.O.V.E." collection (also called "Special Edition" or "Indigo" collection) was a collection of shorts for men and women that included different shades of indigo with opaque white making up the shorts. The collection was available in both a single-colored and two-tone design, depending on the shade of indigo the model was wearing. Some of the styles included were designed to cover the hip and thigh areas, while others were loose. This collection had a floral and lace motif, and also included a new design for the waistband. The "Marry" collection (also called "Wedding" collection) consisted of vests. They were designed to be worn by women in the wedding industry as
